Call 1-888-539-4537 or email profdev@Lexile.com today to learn how Professional Development can put Lexile and Quantile measures to work for you and your students.

Each year, more than 20 million students receive Lexile® and Quantile® measures from state and classroom assessments or instructional programs.

MetaMetrics offers a variety of educational services for putting Lexile and Quantile measures to work for you and your students.

Lexile and Quantile Professional Development teaches you what the measures mean and inspires you with the confidence and ability to integrate The Lexile Framework® for Reading and The Quantile Framework® for Mathematics into your school or district. That is why school administrators, teachers, reading and mathematics specialists and other education professionals have turned to Professional Development to learn how they can use Lexile and Quantile measures to inform instruction and improve achievement for all students.

Our interactive workshops demonstrate how you can use Lexile and Quantile measures—and the many tools that leverage them—to:

- Achieve your instructional and curricular objectives
- Differentiate instruction and manage comprehension
- Track progress and set achievable goals
- Map day-to-day progress to desired results on high-stakes tests
- Communicate with parents about students' progress and goals
- Meet federal and state requirements for student performance and growth
